THE PORT OF THE WORLD.

A recent number of Chambers' Journal contained an article embodying some interesting facts regarding Liverpool, the greatest sea port of England and of the world. It appears that in 1857 nearly one half of all the products exported from England were shipped from Liverpool.—Out of £122,000,000 of exportation, £15,000,000 were exported from Liverpool, about half that amount from London, sixteen millions from Hull, and the rest from Glasgow, Southampton, &c. The population within four miles of the Exchange, at the present time is about 600,000, and the rate of annual increase about 10,000. The property and income tax paid by the inhabitants in 1857, amounted to upwards of £7,000,000, or $35,000,000. The amount of tonnage belonging to the port in the same year was 936,022 tons, being greater by 76,882 tons than that of London itself. The amount of shipping which entered and cleared during the same year was upwards of nine million tons! Of the vessels which arrived from abroad, the United States sent by far the largest and most numerous, viz: 934 ships, of an average burthen of more than one thousand tons. There were from Italy 174 vessels, from Russia 102 and from France 317.

One great branch of the shipping business of Liverpool, is the shipment of emigration to foreign and colonial countries. The tide of German emigration, even now, flows through Liverpool in preference to Hamburg and Bremen. Of the 212,875 British emigrants in 1857, nearly 105,000 sailed from this port. Of the above number, the United States attracted 126,905, British America 21,000 and Australia 61,248. The number of emigrants who left the shores of Great Britain from 1815 to 1857, was upwards of four millions and a half.

The pride of Liverpool is her docks, which cover a space of no less than four hundred acres of water along the Mersey. They extend on the Liverpool side of the river a distance of five miles, and two miles on the Birkenhead side. The seawall along the Liverpool side by which the shipping in the docks is preserved from wind and storm, is one of the greatest works of any age. Its length is upwards of five miles, its average thickness eleven feet, and its average height from the foundation, forty feet. Great difficulty was experienced in gaining a stable foundation for this great structure, and thousands of piles were driven and many great beams of timber sunk to secure a firm bottom. Upwards of eighty pairs of gigantic gates have been put up within the last thirty years, and some of them reach to the unparalleled width of one hundred feet.

THE REVENGE OF NAPOLEON III.—An editorial signed "C." and we suppose from Caleb Cushing, in the Boston Traveler, concludes:

"Napoleon, by the actual aid of Great Britain, has balanced the Russian success of Moscow by the reduction of Sebastopol. He has, with the passive countenance of Great Britain, balanced the Austrian occupation of Paris by the victory of Solferino. The debt to Prussia remains to be paid off; but, above all, that to Great Britain.—Trafalgar and Waterloo are memories of rage and shame in the hearts of all Frenchmen, and especially of all Bonapartes.—And, if in this respect, the turn of Great Britain is to come, she will only have herself to thank for the present powerful and proud position of Louis Napoleon, which is her work quite as much as that of his own genius. Certain we may be, that of the great drama of the Second Empire, the fourth and fifth, and greatest of its acts are yet to come."

THE FUTURE CAPITAL OF THE UNITED STATES.—The New York Express says there can be little doubt that within the next twenty years a movement will be made to change the seat of Government of the United States to some point more central than the present one and that Cincinnati or St. Louis, in the ordinary course of events, must soon come to be the centre of population.

AURORA BOREALIS AND THE TELEGRAPH.—The effect of the Aurora on the electric telegraph is generally to increase or diminish the electric current used in working the wires. Sometimes it entirely neutralizes them, so that, in effect no fluid is discoverable in them. The Aurora borealis seems to be composed of a mass of electric matter, resembling in every respect, that generated by the electric galvanic battery. The currents from it change coming on the wires, and then disappear: the mass of the aurora rolls from the horizon to the zenith.

IRISH FEELING ON THE PEACE.—The Waterford Mail makes the following remarks:—"A rather curious idea has taken possession of many of the Irish people, who think the Emperor has made peace in order that Louis Napoleon might take possession of Ireland. Many of them express themselves favourable to such an acquisition, while others prefer the English sway to that of France."

A locksmith in Frankfort on the Main has hit upon the ingenious idea of constructing a strong box without any key-holes, and which even the owner himself cannot open. Inside is clockwork, the hand of which the owner places at the hour and minute when he again wants to have access to the box. The clockwork begins to move as soon as the lid is shut, and opens the lock from the inside at the moment when the hand indicates.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, OCT. 19.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The almost miraculous escape of this town from conflagration during the past eighteen months, notwithstanding the inflammable material of which it is built, has lulled our citizens into a feeling of security akin to culpable carelessness. This feeling, in some degree, however, is justly chargeable to the lack of a proper understanding between the rulers and the ruled; the former unwisely rejecting all sensible and practical propositions to secure an efficient fire department. The destruction of property yesterday has had the effect of showing that the inhabitants of Victoria are determined to take preventive measures against fires, whether those who are entrusted with power favor it or not. Self-preservation is the first law of nature,—and if those whose duty it is, have not heretofore taken those precautionary measures to put in practice that principle in regard to this town,—the reasonable hope is entertained that they will not again place any more childish obstructions in the way of the people doing it for themselves. Fifteen hundred dollars has already been subscribed, within a brief period, to purchase a good Alarm Bell, and establish a Hook and Ladder Company. We look, therefore, on this part of an efficient Fire Department as already done. What is wanting next, is a good Engine Company. In securing this, we hope no jealousies or bickerings will take place between the authorities and the people. To us it seems the height of folly to place an engine in the hands of the Police. Its proper place is in the hands of a volunteer company, having the privilege of choosing its own members. The only veto reserved to the government should be the right to dissolve the Company in case of inefficiency. If this principle is carried out, in a short time we will have two efficient branches of a Fire Department, ready at the sound of alarm to save our homes from destruction. With cisterns, engines, hooks and ladders, and two or more well organized and well trained companies, we want a number of Fire Wardens, to visit every house in the town, once a month, to see that all fire-places and chimneys, stoves and stove pipes are not dangerously put up. If so, to order them to be made safe; or if not to remove them and fine the offender. We take it that not a moment's delay should be made in their appointment. And if there is no law to point out how it should be done, the responsibility should be taken whether or no; and afterwards make an enactment suitable to our wants.

NEW STEAMER.—The new stern wheel steamer Henrietta was launched on Monday. Her engines will be here in December. In the meantime, Capt. Moore intends to make a trip or two with her to Port Douglas under sail. She will start on her first voyage the last of this week, and as she will go direct to Port Douglas, it will prove an advantage to merchants to ship directly by her. Mr. Holmes, who built her for Capt. Moore, deserves great credit for the skill and workmanship displayed in her construction. She now draws three inches of water; with her engines she will draw six inches; and with forty tons of freight, twenty inches. Consequently nothing could be better adapted for Harrison river, and plying between Yale and Hope, than the Henrietta.

Yesterday morning between four and five o'clock the town was alarmed by the cry of fire. On arriving at the scene of alarm, the flames were bursting from the east end of the large two-story wooden building on the corner of Government and Johnson streets, owned by Thos. Patrick & Co. In a short time it was entirely enveloped in fire, rendering all efforts to save it from destruction futile,—and within an hour it was a smouldering ruin. Messrs Patrick & Co. occupied the premises as a wholesale and retail liquor store, having a stock of liquors variously valued from $6000 to $8000; but the fire had obtained such headway before it was discovered that only two hogsheds of porter were saved from destruction. Mr. Miles who had charge of the establishment and two others, who slept up stairs, were only aroused by a sense of suffocation, barely escaping in their night clothes; one party escaping from the window and another by the stair—it falling beneath his feet. The Union Hotel, which was only separated from the burnt house by a vacant lot 20 feet wide, narrowly escaped entire destruction. At one time the whole side, and the lining in the second story were on fire; but owing to the great exertions of our citizens, the fire was subdued. One half the hotel was entirely gutted. The stock and furniture was thrown into the street. At one time it was supposed that the fire would extend to Bayley's Hotel and eventually sweep the whole block. To stop its extension in that direction, the house of Mr. L. D. Lowenberg was torn down. Up Johnson street several small sheds were capsized into the street to stop the fire in that direction. Luckily, with the exception of the Union Hotel, the fire was confined to where it originated.

It is not known how the fire originated. Mr. Bouillon who occupied a large room up stairs as a musical academy, on leaving the premises at 11 1/2 p. m., watered out the fire. The shop-doors having been closed about 12 p. m., and the flames not being discovered until the dawn of day, the fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary. We are inclined, however, to think that it was accidental.

Too great praise cannot be given to officers and men of the detachment of Marines lying in the barracks at James' Bay, and the Police, for their exertions in subduing the fire, and protecting the property thrown into the street.

LOSSES.

Thos Patrick & Co house and stock $10,000

A. Fellows—removal of Hardware... 500

$13,350

Trifling losses were sustained by M. Prag, L. Lewis, W. Zehner, and K. Gambitz, through removal and injury to their stock. Mr. E. Coker, Fire Engineer, rendered efficient service with his engine; although the way in which he is hampered by the engines being placed under the direction or control of the Police Magistrate, would almost render it impossible for them to be of value in case of fire.

DEPUTATION.—We learn that a deputation of wagoners intend to wait on his Excellency to-day in order to lay before him the necessity of rendering Esquimaux road passable during the winter; and at the same time acquaint his Excellency that the money voted for that road last winter has not yet been expended.

HORSE RACE.—The lovers of the turf will have an opportunity on Thursday, October 27th, to test the mettle of their fast horses, as it is proposed to have a day's horse-racing at the Beacon Hill Course.

Victoria Hebrew Benevolent Society.

VICTORIA, Oct. 18th, 1859.

EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST:—According to the rules and regulations of the First Hebrew Victoria Benevolent Society, an election was held on the 9th inst., for office bearers for the ensuing term. Arrangements were forthwith made for installing them, and on Sunday last, I had the pleasure of listening to a solemn prayer and charge delivered by Mr. D. Jacobi, to the President of the Society, A. Blackman, Esq., rendered in touching and impressive language, appropriate to his station, to which he responded in a short address. Then followed the charge to the Vice President, Mr. E. H. Vineberg, by Mr. Wm. Gallick. The installation of the Secretary, Mr. J. Silversmith, by Mr. B. Hoffman, was ably rendered by him, and his duties and responsibilities were carefully brought home to him; in short it was full of praises and encomiums upon his former career as Secretary of the Society. The Treasurer, Mr. H. M. Cohn, with the following named gentlemen as Trustees, H. Shirsir, J. Malawanyk, A. Simpson, and S. Martin, with the Messenger, Mr. A. Lewis, were in due form apprised of their duties, by Mr. A. J. Brunn. At half past eight o'clock, Sunday evening, the members, with many guests, among whom were several ladies, repaired to the Colonial Restaurant, and partook of a recherche supper prepared for the occasion. Many toasts, addresses, songs, &c., were socially indulged in, and at a late hour the guests retired highly elated by their entertainment.

JUDEN.

STREETS.—We have lately been receiving a foretaste of the rainy season, and some of our streets betray the consequences. From Government up to Broad, on Yates street, mud lakes are rapidly forming. If some public-spirited individual would stir up the property-holders in that quarter to obtain some gravel from the Church grounds, the whole community would be greatly benefitted.

STEALING.—On Monday evening, an unknown party entered the room of Mr. G. Sutro, in the upper part of town, and abstracted therefrom nearly all his wearing apparel and bed-clothes, with a lot of sundries. Being disturbed, no doubt, he forgot to carry away a new black coat. The theft is attributed to Indians inasmuch as several Indian ornaments were not disturbed.

HOOK AND LADDER COMPANY.—The exertions yesterday of Mr. J. J. Southgate and Mr. C. W. Wallace to secure funds to organize an efficient Hook and Ladder Company, were crowned with success, by a subscription to the amount of nearly $1500.

POLICE officer Blake, who gave the alarm of fire yesterday, says that he observed the fire first on the ground floor, at the east end of the building,—and thinks it originated there.
